TENTH R. R. BIBLE CONFERENCE CLOSED

ANNUAL BIBLE STUDY AT THE ASSEMBLY COMPLETED SESSION.

CONFERENCE WAS SUCCESSFUL

Rev. Howard Spoke on "History of the Beginning of the Reign of Jesus Christ"—Mrs. Maude Junkin Baldwin Addressed Conference This Morning and Miss Sanford of India, Spoke of Conditions There.

The tenth annual bible conference closed at Chautauqua hall this morning. The attendance has been fair, with room for many more. One of the encouraging signs was the gradually increasing attendance each day. It is safe to predict that the eleventh conference's success is assured.

At the bible hour this morning, Rev. E. G. Howard took for his subject, "The History of the Beginning of the Reign of Jesus Christ," when he sought to bring out that Christ is the reigning Lord of today. He said that his influence is felt more today than ever.

Sunday School Teacher.

Mrs. Maude Junkin Baldwin addressed the bible conference this morning on "Training for Service in the Elementary Department," and her talk was very interesting. During her visit to the Assembly she has done much good in her talks on Sunday schools. She manifests so much interest in her work. All gained new ideas and it is hoped that they will take them and put them into practice as far as possible.

Mrs. Baldwin maintains that the teacher must first know something of God's word, and should have a fair knowledge of the bible.

She made it plain that the Sunday school teachers should practice what they teach. The teacher should know best how to reach the child's mind.

Just before her address she gave her listeners a list of books for effective work in teaching in the Sunday school. She believes that good music prepares the child's mind for prayer. Have song stories in use in the school.

Miss Anna E. Sanford of Guntur, India, a missionary, talked on "Seventy Years of India Missionary Work," closing the conference. She prefaced her interesting remarks with the statement that it was unnecessary for her to say that the 70 years' work was not all personal.

She presented figures to show the growth of the work and its encouraging aspect at present. In 1842, she said, there was but one missionary, and no native workers. In 1910 there were 25 missionaries and 675 native workers. In the former year there were no Christians and in 1910 there were 40,198.

During the same period schools increased from none to 221, with 4612 pupils and the offerings to missionary work went from nothing to $6000.

Miss Sanford told many experiences and incidents of Christian missionary work in order to illustrate the progress of success being met with.

She declared that the natives were much impressed by the kindness of Americans in sending them food during the famine of 1900 and that this had been a powerful example. For, they said, "Why should they aid us; they are not our relatives?" "That is as far as love extends in India—just to relatives," said the speaker.

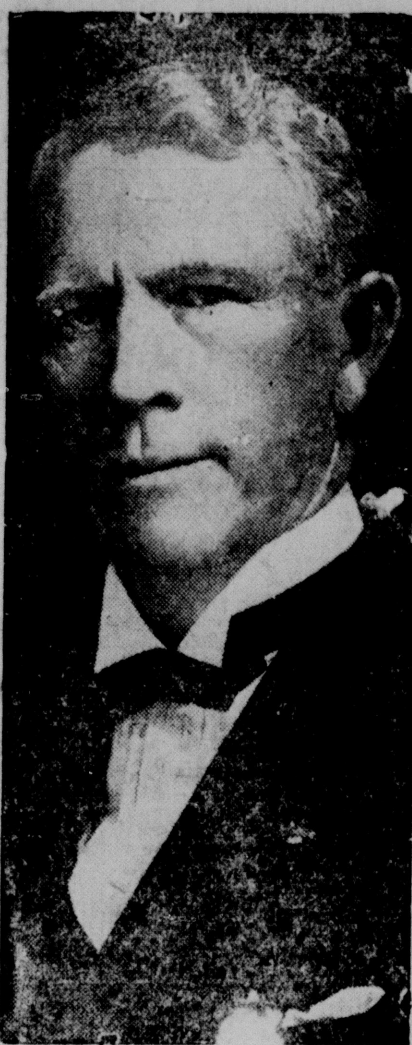

MEXICANS FIRE ON U.S. GUARDS

MANY SHOTS WERE EXCHANGED ACROSS THE BORDER LAST NIGHT.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 3—Special to Telegraph—Fifty or more shots were exchanged between armed men in Mexico and U. S. soldiers on border guard duty last night and early today. The firing opened from the Mexican side and American officers declare it a deliberate attempt to embroil the United States in the revolution in Mexico.

Mr. Griffith of Ashton is here today.

Lincoln Raffenberg and wife of Nachusa are attending the Assembly today.

I. F. EDWARDS, Dixon College Professor Who May Be the Progressive Candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

STARS WILL PLAY FREEPORT SUNDAY

LOCALS HAVE BIG JOB ON THEIR HANDS IN COMING GAME.

Interest in tomorrow's game between the Dixon Stars and Freeport Cardinals is increasing and every indication points to one of the largest crowds of the season. The Stars have had an exceptionally successful season, their list of victories being large and defeats few and far between. The visiting team is beyond all doubt the fastest the locals have met this season, and the boys will have to put up the very best they have to maintain their record. With Carp Huber back in the fold ready to take his turn in the box and with Cummins, the new pitcher, showing better stuff every night he works out, the Stars are in excellent shape as regards the pitchers, and have no fear of the visitors. Ladies will be admitted free as usual.

RED HOT STOVE BURNS LITTLE BABY

COLETA INFANT WILL DIE OF BURNS IT RECEIVED TODAY.

Sterling, Aug. 3—Special to Telegraph—While Mrs. Elias Frankfather Jr., of Coleta, a town about five miles north of Sterling, was baking bread today, her eldest daughter, who was caring for the baby of the family while her mother was busy, picked up the infant and set it in the red-hot lid of an open oven, not knowing there was any fire in the stove.

The mother heard the baby's screams and rushed to its rescue, but by the time she had lifted the infant from its position the metal had burned the little one so terribly that the flesh fell from the parts of the body that had come in contact with the stove.

The baby is still alive, but the attending physician holds out little hope for its recovery.

HAND WAS BROKEN.

Miles McCune suffered a broken hand yesterday afternoon while at work at his trade at the Roper furniture factory, when in some manner a timber with which he was working at the planing machine was knocked against the back of his right hand, fracturing two of the bones. He will be incapacitated for some time.

MISS PHILLIPS IMPROVES.

Miss Mary Phillips, who is at the Compton hospital, where she submitted to an operation Sunday, is much better, according to reports received today.

V. A. Matteson of LaSalle was here today.

THOUSANDS GREET DR. HARVEY WILEY

THE PURE FOOD MAN SURPASSED EXPECTATIONS AT ASSEMBLY.

IS A FIGHTER FOR PURE FOOD

Dr. W. L. Davidson of Cleveland To Give Illustrated Lecture This Evening—Metropolitan Orchestra Gave Final Concert Last Night—Excellent Program for Tomorrow.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the Pure Food Man, was greeted by 4000 people at the Assembly auditorium this afternoon and his auditors heard one of the best talks on food ever delivered in the city. Wiley has a faculty of saying what he thinks, and thinks a lot of fine things. For years he has made a study of food. It is said by some that because he did certain things he was "kicked" out of the department of agriculture, and some say because he was not permitted to do the things he wished, he "kicked" himself out of the department. Be that as it may, he has done and is still doing many things for the cause of pure food.

The distinguished chemist arrived at noon today and was met by a committee from the Assembly board and taken to the Nachusa House, where he dined. He reached the park at 2 o'clock and held a brief reception before the time for his address.

It was remarkable to see how many women walked right up and grasped the hand of Dr. Wiley. Women are interested in pure food too. Wiley promised the ladies to write something on domestic science. He is of the opinion that the name of the next breakfast food will be "Progressive" breakfast food.

Dr. Wiley, since he made his escape from the republican party, has said that he will support Woodrow Wilson for president. He refused to talk politics on the side during his sojourn in Dixon.

Band Gives Concert

The Dixon Marine band gave another excellent concert of an hour prior to the afternoon address and was heard by several thousand people. The abisidnVBGKQP.VBGKQV ple. This band is always popular with the Assembly-goers.

Fine Duet.

The Miller Sisters of Franklin Grove gave another saxophone duet just previous to Dr. Wiley's introduction. This was one of the finest selections this couple has yet played.

Davidson Tonight.

Dr. W. L. Davidson of Cleveland, O., has arrived and will give his illustrated lecture tonight. This well known lecturer has a fine entertainment and a big crowd should hear him.

His stereopticon views are of the best and are to be shown by the most competent man the Assembly could select—Joe Daunter of Dixon—who will have charge of the machine during the lecture.

Physical Culture Class Meets.

The members of the physical culture class instructed by Miss Wahl and the members of the Boy's club in charge of Prof. Allen, will give an entertainment in Auditorium hall on Tuesday evening. This is one of the Assembly entertainments that is always well patronized. The program is splendid.

I. F. EDWARDS FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR

DIXON MAN IS SELECTED AS THE RUNNING MATE FOR FUNK.

IS ON PROGRESSIVE TICKET

I. F. Edwards is Ex-Mayor of Dixon and an Excellent Man, Who Is Well Thought of in This Community—Known All Over State.

I. F. Edwards, president of Dixon College, was yesterday selected by the powers-that-be as the Progressive candidate for Lieutenant governor. The news of the selection comes as a surprise to Dixon people who, however, take pride in his recognition given him.

From his young manhood Mr. Edwards has been an active force in clean politics, and his alignment with the new party was taken as a matter of principle, for, as he announced early in the campaign, he had "no axe to grind."

Born in Amboy.

Mr. Edwards was born in Amboy Jan. 26, 1859. He graduated with honors from the Amboy high school and later finished his education with a thorough college course, graduating with the degree A. M.

He was city superintendent of the schools at Amboy for a number of years and his record in that position made him the logical republican candidate for county superintendent, to which office he was elected and in which position he made an enviable record.

He has been trustee of the Northern Illinois State Normal school at DeKalb, president of the State County Superintendents' association and also of the Northern Illinois Teachers' association. He was at one time a candidate for the republican nomination for state superintendent, being beaten out by the present superintendent, F. G. Blair. Mr. Edwards was also an announced candidate for the office of congressman from the 13th congressional district at the time of the retirement of Col. F. O. Lowden, but withdrew because of ill health.

In city affairs Mr. Edwards has always been a progressive, and his administration of the mayor's duties for many years was among the best the city has ever enjoyed.

Mr. Edwards is a practical, clean citizen and will certainly strengthen the Bull Moose state ticket.

STRETCH WIRE CABLE ABOVE THE DAM

WIRE WILL ACT AS A DANGER LINE AND WILL PREVENT THE BOATS FROM GOING OVER THE DAM.

Robert and Harold Espy and Harry Whipperman yesterday stretched the heavy wire cable across the river and by the first of the week the life-saving appliance will be completed. The cable, which is half an inch in diameter, is firmly anchored to the concrete bulkhead on the south side of the river and is fastened to a big timber, securely planted in the earth, on the north bank. Several triangular floats will be hung from the cable with two-by-fours and these will be sufficiently close together for all possible emergencies.

Boatmen are hereby warned of the existence of the cable and should exercise care in maneuvering in its vicinity after dark, until lights are hung establishing its exact location.

ATTENDED CONFERENCE.

County Superintendent L. W. Miller has returned from DeKalb, where he attended the Country Life conference, which he reports was especially beneficial. Lee county was exceptionally well represented at this meeting. Mr. Miller announced that no change will be recommended in the text books to be used in the rural schools this year.

One Sick List

Mrs. Della Vall is on the sick list. Josephine Fish, R. N. is taking care of her.

Miss Mary Coleman

Miss Mary Coleman, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Coleman of Milledgeville, who died Friday morning, July 12, of an operation which Dr. S. M. Green of this city, is accused of performing, said physician being held to the grand jury under $12,500 bail.

Miss Coleman was only seventeen years of age and in her town was considered one of the most beautiful and lovely girls. Her death and the circumstances surrounding it caused a terrible shock to her many friends and relatives.

DROVE ON THREE WHEELS

George Origiesen performed quite a wonderful feat the other day, when he drove a load of coal to the Lambert home in a wagon, supported by only three wheels. Mr. Origiesen was unaware of the fact until a farmer driving by told him he had lost a wheel, but he got the load there all right.

DR. AND MRS. S. S. CRYAR WERE IN WRECK

Word has been received here that Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Cryar of Oregon, while on their way to Spokane, were in a slight wreck near Minneapolis on Tuesday. The observation car in which they were at the time the train was pulling into Minneapolis, made what is called a "jack knife." The front trucks of the car went off the rails and the last trucks split a switch and went onto a sidetrack. It required four hours to clear the track. No one was injured.

AUTO PARTY WRECKED NEAR GRAND DETOUR

GUY MILLER AND RAYMOND MCGOWAN OF THIS CITY WERE INJURED.

AUTOMOBILE WAS DEMOLISHED

Car Was From Polo, and Driven by Frank Baird; Owned by Wm. Frazer—Young Men Were Returning From Dance in Grand Detour.

Guy Miller and Raymond McGowan of this city and Frank Baird of Polo were victims of an automobile accident last evening while returning to Dixon from Grand Detour, which might easily have proven serious to all of them, inasmuch as the machine in which they were riding was almost totally wrecked.

The three young men, who were riding in an Oakland auto owned by Wm. Frazer of Polo and driven by young Baird of the same place, were thrown from the car and all received minor injuries. Miller's being the most serious, in that his left ear was badly lacerated and practically torn from the head, necessitating a number of stitches.

Were Turning Corner.

They were returning from Grand Detour, where they had gone to attend the dance, when in turning the corner near the Tryon Rosbrook home at the Bend, they were confronted by another car. In attempting to turn out for the oncoming machine Baird lost control of his car and it crashed into a fence, throwing the three occupants out and badly wrecking the machine.

Miller received numerous bruises about his head and body in addition to the injury to his ear and McGowan and Baird were injured about the body.

Car a Wreck.

The car was a wreck after its contact with the fence. Both wheels on the left side were torn off, the radiator and wind shield were demolished, one door was torn off and the back of the rear seat was twisted and splintered so badly as to ruin it.

Baird had brought a party of Polo ladies to the Assembly and it was necessary to get another car to take them home. The wrecked auto was taken to Polo this morning.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Rev. Derr of Lena will occupy the pulpit at First Presbyterian church tomorrow morning during the absence of Dr. R. M. Crissman, the pastor.

BLOCKS WORK ON HIGH TENSION POLE LINE

SAID THAT JOHN COFFEY DARES NOT WANT THE POLES IN FRONT OF HIS PROPERTY.

REFERS COMPANY TO HIS LAWYER

Northern Illinois Utilities Company Dig Holes and Find Them Filled Up—Mr. Coffey's Lawyer Is on Vacation; Company Is "Up Against It."

John Coffey, whose allegations of ownership of part of the River road east of the city have caused the city considerable trouble in the past, when he has closed up the road, is again in the limelight, this time because of his attitude toward the Illinois Northern Utilities company.

According to reports the work of completing the high tension line between this city and Franklin Grove has been halted because Mr. Coffey has refused to allow the company to place three poles in front of his property.

It is stated that the right of way agent of the Utilities company has made arrangements with Mr. Coffey whereby the company would be allowed to place the poles in front of his property and that the holes were dug early in the week; but that when the pole setting gang arrived at the Coffey place Friday morning they found the holes filled up, and instructions from Mr. Coffey to see his lawyer. Inasmuch as Mr. Wolfersperger is away on his vacation the Utilities company is in a way, "up against it."

JOKERS CALL OUT CITY PATROL WAGON

OFFICER WARD IS LOOKING FOR THE MAN WHO SENT A FAKE CALL.

Officer Waldo Ward was probably the angriest man in Dixon this morning, and at the hour of going to press his ire had not abated to the extent of allowing him to talk calmly of the "job" that was put over on him early this morning.

While Mr. Ward was busy at his duties at the city hall, he received a 'phone message to the effect that the patrol was wanted at the Northwestern depot at once. He lost no time in having the hurry-up wagon hitched up, and a flying trip was made to the station.

But there was no one there and the officer was unable to ascertain who sent the message. He investigated carefully, but in vain, then drove back to the city hall nursing his anger and threatening dire vengeance. He will have the guilty joker arrested—if he finds out who he was.

Social Happenings

AUGUST 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6.

Are capable of attaining to anything, but should be very careful. Curiosity is marked. Fond of singing. Buoyant and elastic in spirits. Full of fun and jollity. Strong leaning toward the occult and mysterious. Are passionate, but poetically and refinedly so, and anything debasing or low will quickly awaken your disgust. Devoted, loving, full of fun.

AUGUST 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12.

Have a discriminating mind, and are a keen, subtle, powerful reasoner, but more through intuition than intellect. In religious matters and tendencies a John rather than a Peter. What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Their Health—Their own Statements Follow.

New Moorefield, Ohio.—"I take great pleasure in thanking you for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had bearing down pains, was dizzy and weak, had pains in lower back and could not be upon my feet long enough to get a meal. As long as I laid on my back I would feel better, but when I would get up those bearing down pains would come back, and the doctor said I had female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was the only medicine that helped me and I have been growing stronger ever since I commenced to take it. I hope it will help other suffering women as it has me. You can use this letter."—Mrs. CASSIE LLOYD, New Moorefield, Clark Co., Ohio.

Read What This Woman Says: South Williamstown, Mass.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound certainly has done a great deal for me. Before taking it I suffered with backache and pains in my side. I was very irregular and I had a bad female weakness, especially after periods. I was always tired, so I thought I would try your medicine. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt so much better that I got another and now I am a well woman. I wish more women would take your medicine. I have told my friends about it."—Mrs. ROBERT COLT, Box 45, South Williamstown, Mass.

Too Late To Class

DEMENTTOWN

Almost a frost last night. Which reminds one of the persistent kicking about the hot nights we heard not so long ago.

Hips are not in style this year. They've even cut the hips off the hurahs.

Young ladies who have lost their complexions will do well to look under the bureau. Those round boxes are very elusive and roll in many places.

Will the class in arithmetic please arise? Thanks. Now children if you have $150 and 10 per cent of it is taken away from you every year for ten years, how much will you have at the end of the tenth year?

At course the above has no reference to a motor.

He Knew It.

The exercises at the Assembly began with Star Spangled Banner. The patriotic crowd, enthused, sang lustily. Soon everybody was singing "tum-tete-tum," as is usual, except one man who sang lustily every word of the song from beginning to end.

Later it was learned that he was a foreigner.

Good Fellow Ledge.

Miss Amy Startle, who has taken the job of cook at the hotel, has won the thinnest slice of beef contest and now holds the state championship. For years past there has been a keen rivalry between the proprietors of the country hotels as to who could furnish the thinnest slice of roast beef. Miss Startle evolved the clever idea of slicing the beef with her dad's safety razor, she can now slice it so thin it looks as though it were etched on the plate when it is set before the guest. It is possible to read the finest print of the newspaper through it.

Real Literary Crumbs.

The librarian opened the book wide and shook it hard.

"Looking for possible love letters and mementoes?" a visitor asked.

"No; bread crumbs," said the librarian. "Subsequent readers do not mind love letters, but they do object to bread crumbs." Half the books brought back have crumbs tucked away between the leaves. That shows what a studious town we are. Our people are so enamored of literature that they can't stop reading long enough to eat. Also it shows what a lonely town we are. Only people who live alone a great deal read anything except the newspaper at meal time. And it shows what a slovenly town we are. In the interests of hygiene and aesthetics those voracious readers who cram their heads and their stomachs at the same time ought to clean their books of crumbs, but they never do."

Passaic, N. J., Aug. 3.—Several women were trampled on and injured in a fire which broke out in the Theatrum moving picture theater here. Six hundred persons inside the place became panic stricken and all the injuries were caused in the consequent rush.

HUNTER TELLS "TRUE" STORY

Full and Particular Account of an Affair in Which He and a Bear Figured.

"I had proceeded in this way a few steps, when suddenly I saw, about eight feet away on the curving border of the spruces, running directly at me what appeared to be a large bear. I had just time to push forward the butt of my rifle and yell, when the bear collided with me, knocking me down. It seemed to turn slightly to the left as I pushed my rifle into it, and I clearly recall its shoulder striking my left hip, its head striking just above my left knee, while its claws struck my shin so that it is now black and blue. I had the sensation of one about to be mauled and mutilated. As I fell to the right my rifle dropped, and in my confusion, I grabbed with my left hand the animal's fur, while I remember having a quick, foolish thought of the small knife in my pocket.

"The bear was, I believe, more surprised than I. I felt its fur slip through my hand, as it quickly turned to its right, and, swinging about, ran back over the hill without any attempt to bite or strike me. Rising, as the bear wheeled, I picked up my rifle and shot as the animal was disappearing. The bullet struck it, evidently high in the back. Immediately I took up its trail, followed it down into the woods and on the flats for over an hour, and at last lost the impressions on hard ground. Its tracks showed that it had kept running for more than a mile, and then settled down to a walk on the timbered ridges, continuing to a flat country below. For the first mile I saw, at intervals, considerable blood on the leaves of brush and trunks of trees about three feet up from the ground, but afterward saw no more.

"Who will believe this remarkable incident? Certainly if another had related it to me, I might have thought it some mistake owing to excitement.

"Twice I have had the good luck to see the action of a bear when it crossed unexpectedly the fresh trail of a man—once in Mexico, and again last summer on the MacMillan river, when a bear crossed Selous' trail. In both cases the bear jumped in great fright and ran at full speed."—Charles Sheldon, in Scribner's Magazine.

COTTON BILL IS PASSED

Underwood Measure Adopted in House by Vote of 156 to 72.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The Democrats of the house, aided by most of the insurgent Republicans, by a vote of 156 to 72, passed the Underwood cotton bill, making an average reduction of 50 per cent below the duties provided in the Payne-Aldrich bill. The bill offered as a substitute by Representative Hill, Republican of Connecticut, providing for a specific duty instead of an ad valorem duty, was defeated by a vote of 145 to 87.

COMMERCE COURT IS HIT

Under Conference Measure It Is Abolished, But Judges Retained.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Under the conference measure, the commerce court is abolished, and a prohibition is made against the appointment of more judges until the number of circuit judges recedes to twenty-nine. The civil service provision of the original bill, fixing a five-year tenure of office for government employees, is changed to provide a seven-year tenure.

$100,000 GIVEN REFUGEES

Zapatistas Capture Town Near Mexico City—Rebels Hold Up and Rob Passenger Train—500 Insurrectos Cut Off and Slaughtered.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Senator Fall has received a number of telegrams from persons in El Paso throwing still further light on conditions in Mexico. One of these from a business man with unusual opportunities for obtaining information at first hand from the interior, says that it has been learned that British subjects not only are not molested but are protected, while American citizens are pillaged.

In the senate a resolution was agreed to appropriating $100,000 for the transportation of American refugees from Mexico, now in El Paso, to such places as the secretary of war may determine. It was intimated in the discussion that there was much that might be told the senate concerning the brutal treatment of American citizens, but in view of the special committee's task and upon which it is about to enter, discussion was not necessary at this time.

Zapatistas Capture Town.

Mexico City, Aug. 3.—Acachutepac, a town of 2,000 inhabitants, 19 miles from Mexico City, was captured and practically razed by the Zapatistas July 24, and Ixtapala, seven and one-half miles from here, was raided, its electric lights shot out and the jefe politico carried away captive, to be held for ransom. The Zapatistas have advanced their permanent camps from the state of Morelos to within fifteen miles of the capital, and have considerable bodies of raiders on the north, west and south sides of this city.

Suspend Constitutional Guarantees.

Constitutional guarantees have been suspended by the federal government in the states of Morelos, Guerrero, Chihuahua, Sonora, Puebla, Mexico and Durango.

Two hundred rebels held up and robbed the Intercontinental passenger and express train at Chavarrillo, about midway between this city and Vera Cruz. General Blanco, federal commander, reports that his force of 1,500 men met and defeated 2,500 rebels at Ojitos. Five hundred rebels were cut off from the main body and slaughtered to a man.

NEW MILITARY BILL UP

Senate Body Cuts Features on Which Taft Based Veto.

Section Inserted in Former Measure to Legislate General Wood Out Is Eliminated.

Washington, Aug. 3.—With practically all features upon which President Taft based his veto eliminated, the army appropriation bill again was reported to the senate by the military affairs committee, carrying approximately $94,600,000, an increase of $6,000,000 over the amount proposed by the house.

The senate committee struck out the house provisions changing the enlistment tenure from three to five years. The consolidation of the offices of quartermaster general, commissary general and paymaster general into one bureau was eliminated, as was the provision for consolidating the offices of adjutant general, inspector general and chief of staff.

A section inserted in the bill when it was in conference to legislate Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff, out of office March 4, was not in the reconstructed bill. The reduction of the number of cavalry regiments to ten, as provided by the house, is not recommended.

STEEL MENDS BROKEN LEG

Miss Mary Coffin Has Fractured Bone Welded Together.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 3.—Miss Mary Coffin, daughter of William C. Coffin of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company, had a broken bone in her leg mended with a band of Vandalia steel and some screw nails. The bone, fractured in an automobile accident, would not knit. Dr. William O'Neill Sherman devised a band of steel and some screws. With these he joined the ends of the broken bone.

Busy Times for Taft's Aid.

Washington, Aug. 3.—"Nothing to do but work these days," is the wall of Carmel A. Thompson, the new secretary to President Taft, who is probably the busiest man in Washington this month on account of the numerous tasks connected with President Taft's campaign.

Ten Hurt in Train Collision.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 3.—Six passengers and four trainmen were injured in a head-on collision between a west-bound Blue Mountain express and an east-bound freight on the Western Maryland railroad at Chewsville, Md. No one will die.

ERUPTION LIKE PIMPLES ON FACE

Developed Into Sores. Would Almost Scratch Himself Raw. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Completely Cured Him.

Wathena, Kan.—"My child's scalp trouble became so bad that I was ashamed to have anyone see him. His head had a solid scab on it. He also had a terrible breaking out on his face which was gradually growing worse. The eruption was like pimples which developed into sores when he scratched which he did almost constantly. He would almost scratch himself raw."

"I had used several different kinds of salve, none of them helping in the least bit, when I saw the Cuticura advertisement in the paper and it made me think of the good results my sister had when she used it for her children. I had only used Cuticura Soap and Ointment about two weeks before I noticed that the sores were almost entirely gone and it must have been a month or six weeks he was troubled before I began the treatment. He would get easy when I would put the Cuticura Ointment on him. Cuticura Soap and Ointment completely cured him and he has a clear complexion now. I also use Cuticura Ointment on the older children's heads and find it leaves the hair soft and silky." (Signed) Mrs. W. H. Hughes, Dec. 31, 1911.

Cuticura Soap (25c) and Cuticura Ointment (50c) are sold throughout the world. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

SENATE UPHOLDS MONROE DOCTRINE

Adopts Resolution Warning Powers From the Western Hemisphere.

LODGE FOR A FIRM STAND

Senator From Massachusetts Declares, However, That No Government Sought to Get Hold of Magdalena Bay.

Washington, Aug. 3.—After a three-hour debate behind closed doors the senate by a vote of 51 to 4 adopted the Lodge resolution defining the attitude of the United States in disapproval of the acquisition by foreign interests of any territory on the western hemisphere which might be used as military or naval bases or menace "the approaches" of this country.

Before the senate had proceeded far discussion began to touch so close to government secrets that the doors were closed and consideration went on in executive session. Senator Lodge, calling up the resolution, declared that its passage was in the interest of peace.

Should Tell Its Position.

"The committee on foreign relations believed it wise that the United States should make its position known and should not let a situation arise in which it might be necessary to urge a friendly nation to withdraw when that nation could not do so without humiliation," said Mr. Lodge. "This is merely a statement of policy, to make clear the position this nation will take in such circumstances."

The resolutions declared the United States could not see, "without grave concern," the title to any advantageous position on the American continent pass into the control of a foreign corporation that might be dominated by a foreign government.

"What is the real meaning of this resolution, as it affects the Monroe doctrine?" asked Senator Cummins. "Is it an extension or further application of that principle?"

Says U. S. Has Right to Protest.

"The declaration rests on a much broader and older ground

Ball Roll Over.

The program will begin at 8 p. m. sharp, and it is hoped that everyone will be on time and not miss a single number.

Orchestra Closes Engagement.

The Metropolitan Ladies Orchestra closed its engagement at the Assembly last evening with a full concert to an auditorium which, except for the cool weather, would have been packed to the limit. As it was, the seats were nearly all occupied. This orchestra has undoubtedly made a hit here, as was evidenced by the number of "by request" numbers they played. To those who failed to hear the orchestra, it will be some consolation to know that it will be back here during the winter and will play a concert on the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course.

The New Race—Hoover.

President H. D. Hoover of Carthage College, in his lecture yesterday afternoon, predicted a glorious new race of the future and pleaded for the conservation of the children of today, who will be the new race.

"Every human power must be developed and set free. We must conserve our mental abilities. The general tendency in education is to make people like they are today. The theory is wrong.

"You parents, conserve the sweetness and beauty of your child. There are great possibilities for the new race in the science of eugenics. The teacher and builder of the new race has a great work to do.

"Everything is ready for the new race, and may it be brought forth wreathed in the image of the perfect man."

Program for Sunday.

Ex-Gov. Glenn of North Carolina will deliver the principal address at the Assembly Sunday. He will speak in the auditorium at 2:30 p. m. His message will be "The Great National Remedy for Evil," and it goes without saying that this subject is full of good thoughts. Glenn is a deep thinker and profound scholar and he will bring out the good things in the subject.

Mr. Glenn's sermon lecture will River Assembly patrons. He puts his heart into his words, and his hearers know and feel it, and his presence is a veritable benediction and lasting inspiration.

Miss Ferrell will sing against Sunday evening before the illustrated lecture.

Fonken Sunday Night.

Sunday evening Geo. H. Fonken, assistant secretary Y. M. C. A., Ellis Island, N. Y., will deliver his illustrated lecture, "Life on the Bowery." Mr. Fonken was formerly secretary of the Sterling Y. M. C. A. and is well known here. It is said that his lecture is full of merit and is well worth seeing and hearing. Mr. Fonken is a good talker.

Mission Study Class.

The Interdenominational Mission Study class, with Miss Sarah Van Gundy, Washington, D. C., as director, will open Monday forenoon. Her subject will be "China's Break with the Past." The hour set for the study is 10:30.

Ott Monday Afternoon.

Edward Amherst Ott, well known lecturer, will deliver his noted lecture "Will Your Dreams Come True" Monday afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. Krueger will sing a solo. Mr. Ott is appropriately called "The Purposeful Orator" and as such combines much of humor and entertainment in his lecture. He is a man with a purpose and an ideal. His purpose is to help and uplift. Mr. Ott addressed a large audience here last year.

The American lady prefers EASTMAN'S ICE CREAM to all others. It is famous for its deliciousness. We invite you to drop in and try a dish after your shopping. It will refresh you wonderfully. We take such a lot of pains in its preparation that its excellence is assured.

ROUND TABLE.

Miss Caroline Pratt was the speaker at the Round Table yesterday at the Assembly and her subject was "The Montessori Method." There was a larger crowd than usual present to hear this interesting discussion of the newly advertised method of teaching children.

Her talk was most exhaustive. She went into every detail thoroughly, and was the means of bringing much information, hitherto unknown, to the majority of her hearers.

The means of testing the child's eyes, hearing and other senses were brought out. The unique ways of letting the child learn for himself were touched, and especial emphasis was laid upon the physical education of the child as practiced by Dr. Montessori.

PROSPERITY CAME IN JUMPS

Good Story From Which Private John Allen Drew a Rule to Guide His Conduct.

Private John Allen, during his long service as representative of Mississippi in congress, was importuned on one occasion to make an after-dinner speech at a banquet at which he was to be a guest.

"No!" said the "private." "I will make a before-dinner speech but none after dinner."

When reminded that a before-dinner speech was quite out of the ordinary, and was asked for his reason for desiring to make his speech before dinner, he told the following story:

"There was a 'ne'er-do-well' that lived near Tupelo, my home town, some years ago named Bill Jones. Bill had a brother Bob, who had gone to Texas quite a while before, and reports said that he was enjoying a fair share of worldly prosperity. When a Texan, from the town in which Bob had located, came to Tupelo, he looked up Bob, who said to him:

"Tell Bob that I have a large family, and things are against me somehow, and if he can give me a little assistance it will be greatly appreciated."

He continued on this strain for some time so that the Texan to relieve the situation proposed that they have a drink. The drink was disposed of, and Bill was cheered up considerably; began to tell what a good crop he would have this year, etc. Another drink was taken with a like result, and after about the fourth had been disposed of, he slapped the Texan on the back and said:

"When you see Bob, you tell him if he or any of his friends has cash and money, just draw on me for it, and they will get it."

Going Easy.

"He is dying very calmly," observed the physician as he felt the pulse of the sufferer.

"So like John," softly spoke the prospective widow. "He was an easy-going man."

Scandalous Disclosures.

"Yes, the Richmuds are very humiliated since the old man died."

"What is wrong? I thought there was nothing about him that—"

"That's just it. No fake widows have put in claims for his estate."

Couldn't Keep It.

"I suppose," began the Crafty Lobbyist, "that you, like other statesmen, have your price."

"Nope," answered the Intelligent Legislator. "I had mine, but I have spent it."

Joseph Singer and wife are here from Franklin Grove to attend the Assembly.

E. J. Wolfe and family of Ashton are in Dixon today.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Foutz of Ashton are here today to attend the Assembly.

CHAPTER XIX.

Fortune Decides.

George and Fortune were seated at breakfast. It was early morning. At ten they were to depart for Jaffa, to take the tubby French packet there to Alexandria. They could just about make it, and any delay meant a week or ten days longer upon this ragged and inhospitable coast.

"Ryenne has probably overslept. After breakfast I'll go and roust him out. The one thing that really ticks me," George continued, as he pored the tough rind from the skinny bacon, "is, we shan't have any luggage. Think of the blessing of traveling without a trunk or a valise or a steamer-roller!"

"Without even a comb or a hair-brush!"

"It's great fun," George broke his toast.

And Fortune wondered how she could tell him. She was without any toilet articles. She hadn't even a toothbrush; and it was quite out of the question for her to bother him about trifles, much as she needed them. She would have to live in the clothes she wore, and trust that the ship's stewardess might help her out in the absolute necessities.

Here the head-waiter brought George a letter. The address was enough for George. No one but Ryenne could have written it. Without excusing himself, he ripped off the envelope and read the contents. Fortune could not resist watching him, for she grasped quickly that only Ryenne could have written a letter here in Damascus. At first the tan upon George's cheeks darkened; then it became lighter, and the mouth and eyes and nose became stern.

"Is it bad news?"

"It all depends upon how you look at it. For my part, good riddance to bad rubbish. Here, read it yourself." She read:

"My Dear Percival: After all, I find that I can not reconcile myself to the dullness of your olive-groves. I shall send the five hundred to you when I reach New York. With me it is as it was with the devil. When he was sick, he vowed he would be a saint; but when he got well, devil a saint was he. There used to be a rhyme about it, but I have forgotten that. Anyhow, there you are. I feel that I am conceding a point in regard to the money. It is contrary to the laws and by-laws of the United Romance and Adventure Company to refund. Still, I intend to hold myself to it.

With hale affection,

"RYANNE."

"What do you think of that?" demanded George hotly. "I never did a good action in my life that wasn't served ill. I'm a soft duffer, if there ever was one."

"I shall never be ungrateful for your kindness to me."

"Oh, hang it! You're different; you're not like any other woman in the world," he blurted; and immediately was seized with a mild species of fright.

Fortune stirred her coffee and delicately scooped up the swirling circles of foam.

"Old maids call that money," he said understandingly, eager to cover up his boldness. "My mother used to tell me that there were lots of wonders in a tea-cup."

"Tell me about your mother."

To him it was a theme never lacking in new expressions. When he spoke of his mother, it altered the clear and boyish note in his voice; it became subdued, reverent. He would never be aught than guileless; of one of his panegyrics he caught sight of his watch which he had placed at the side of his plate.

"By Jove! quarter to nine. I've got an errand or two to do, and there's no need of your running your feet off on my account. I'll be back quarter after." He dug into his pocket and counted out fifty pounds in paper and gold. "You keep this till I get back."

She pushed it aside, half rising from her chair.

"Fortune, listen. Hereafter I am George, your brother George; and I do not want you ever to question any action of mine. I am leaving this money in case some accident befall me. You never can tell." He took her hand and firmly pressed it down upon the money. "In half an hour, sister, I'll be back. You did not think that I was going to run away?"

"No."

"Do you understand now?"

"Yes."

While he was gone she remained seated at the table. She made little pyramids of the gold, divided the even dates from the odd, arranged Maltese crosses and circles and stars. . . . Pity, pity! Well, why should she rebel against it? Was it not more than she had had hitherto? What should she do? She closed her eyes. She would trouble her tired brain no more about the future till they reached Naples. She would let this one week drift her how it would.

George came in under the time-limit of his adventure. He had been upon the most difficult errand imaginable, at least from a bachelor's point of view. He carried two hand-bags. One of these he deposited in Fortune's lap. "Shall I open it?"

"If you wish."

She noted his embarrassment, and her immediate curiosity was not to be denied. She slipped the catch and looked inside. There were combs and brushes, soap and tooth-powder and talc, a manicure-set, a pair of soft wooden slippers, and . . . She glanced up quickly. The faintest rose stole under her cheeks. It was droll; it was pathetically funny. She would have given words to have seen him making the purchases.

"You are not offended?" he stammered.

"Why should I be? I am human; I have slept and lived for days in a dress, and worn my hair down my back for lack of hairpins and combs. I am sure that it is a very nice night-gown."

Laughter overcame her. He laughed, too; not because the situation appealed to him as laughable, but because there was something, an indefinable something, in that laughter of hers that made him wonderfully happy.

"Mr. Jones . . ."

"George," he interrupted determinedly.

"Brother George, it was very kind and thoughtful of you. Not one man in a thousand would have thought of . . . hair-pins!" More laughter.

"I didn't think of them; it was the clerk."

"He . . ."

"She."

"Well, then, she will achieve great things," lightly, though her heart was full.

Tactfully he reached over and swept up the money.

"Shall I ever be able to repay you?" she said.

"Yes, by letting me be your brother; by not deciding the future till we land in Naples; by letting me keep in touch with you, whatever your ultimate decision may be. That isn't much. Will you promise that?"

"Yes."

They spoke no more of Ryenne. It was as though he had dropped out of their lives completely. To a certain extent he had. They were to meet him again, however, in the last act of this whimsical drama, which had drawn them both out of the commonplace and dropped them for a full spin upon the whirligig of life.

In due time they arrived at Alexandria. There they found the great transatlantic liner, homeward bound. Ryenne would beat them into New York by ten days. He had picked up a boat of the P. & O. line at Port Said, sailing without stop to Marseilles. From there to Cherbourg was a trifling journey.

George knew the captain, and the captain not only knew George, but had known George's father before him. The young man went to the heart of the matter at once; and when he had finished his remarkable tale, the captain lowered his cigar. It had gone out.

"And all this happened in the year 1909-1910! If any one but you, Mr. Jones, had told me this, I'd have sent him ashore as a lunatic. You have reported it?"

"What good would it do? We are out of it, and that's enough. More, we do not want any one to know what we've been through. If the newspapers got hold of it, there would be no living."

"You leave it to me," said the big-hearted German. "From here to Naples she shall be as mine own daughter. You have not told me all?"

"No; only what I had of necessity to tell."

"Well, you know best. I shall do my share to make her feel at home. She is as pretty as a flower."

To this George agreed, but not verbally.

The steamer weighed anchor at six o'clock that evening, with only a handful of passengers for the trip to Naples. George had wired from Damascus to Cairo to have his luggage sent on, and he saw it put aboard himself. Without letting Fortune know, he had also telegraphed the hotel to forward whatever she had left; but the return wire informed him that Mrs. Chedsoye had taken everything.

They were leaning against the starboard rail, watching the slowly converging lights of the harbor. Fortune had borrowed a cloak from her stewardess and George wore the mufti of the first-officer. The captain had offered him, but George had declined. He would have been lost in its ample folds.

"I can not understand why they made no effort to find you," he mused. "It doesn't seem quite human."

"Don't you understand? It is simple. My mother believes that Horace and I ran away together. If not that, I ran away myself, as I that day threatened to do. In either case, she saw nothing could be done in trying to find out where I had gone. Perhaps she knows exactly what did happen. Doubtless she has sent on my things to Mentone, which, of course, I shall never see again. No, no! I can not go back there. I have known the misery of suspense long enough." She lowered her head to the rail.

He came quite near to her. His arms went out toward her, only to drop down. He must wait. It was very hard. But nothing prevented his putting forth a hand to press hers reassuringly, and saying: "Don't do that, Fortune. It makes my heart ache to see a woman cry."

"I am not crying," came in muffled tones. "I am only sad, and tired, tired."

"Everything will come out all right in the end," he encouraged. "Of course you are tired. What woman wouldn't be, having gone through what you have? Here, let's sit in the steamer-chairs till the bugle blows for dinner. I'm a bit fagged out myself."

They lay back in the chairs, and no longer cared to talk. The lights twinkled, but fainter and fainter, till at last only the pale line between the sky and the sea remained. She turned her head and looked sharply at him. He was sound asleep. "Poor boy!" she murmured softly. "How care-worn!" There was something grotesque in the mask of desert tan and shaven skin. How patient he had been through it all, and how kind and gentle to her! She remembered now of seeing him that night in Cairo, and of remarking how young and fresh he seemed in comparison to the men she knew and had met. And she must leave him, to go into the world and fight her own battles. If God had but given to her a brother like this! But brother he never could be, no, not even in the pleasant sense of adoption. She did not want pity. . . . To think of his getting those things for her in Damascus! . . . Pity suggested that she was weak and helpless, whereas she knew that she was both patient and strong. . . . What did she want? She glanced up and down the deck. It was totally deserted save for them. Then, "clad in the beauty of a thousand stars," she leaned over and down and brushed his hand with her lips.

"Everything Will Come Out All Right in the End," He Encouraged.

And George slept on. Only the blare of the bugle brought him back to mundane affairs. He was hungry, and he announced the fact with gusto. They would dine well that night. The captain placed Fortune at his right and George at his left, and broached a bottle of fine old Johannisberger. And the three of them had coffee in the smoking-room. If the other passengers had any curiosity, they did not manifest it openly.

Upon finding that they had no real need of staying over in Naples, the captain urged that they take the return voyage with him. He saw more than either of the young people, with those blue Teutonic eyes of his. George promised to let him know within a dozen hours of the sailing. Certainly Fortune would decide one way or the other within that time.

Both had seen the Vesuvian bay many times, with never-failing love and interest. They sailed across the bay in the bright clearness of the morning.

"You are going back with me," George announced in a tone which inferred that nothing more was to be said upon the subject. But, for all his confidence, there was a great and heavy fear upon his heart as he asked for mail at the little inclosure at Cook's, in the Galleria Vittoria. There was a cable; nothing more.

"Now, Fortune . . ."

"Have I ever given you permission to call me by that name?"

"Why . . ."

"Have I?"

"No."

"Then I give you that permission now."

"What do you frighten a man like that for?" he cried. "What I was going to say . . ."

"Fortune."

"What I was going to say, Fortune, was this: Here is the cable from Mortimer. I'm not going to open it till after dinner tonight. We'll go up to the Bertolini to dine. You'll stay there for the night, while I put up at the Bristol, which is only a little ways up the Corso. I'm not going to ask you a question till coffee. Then we'll thrash out the subject till there isn't a grain left."

She made no protest. Secretly she was pleased to be bullied like this. It proved that among all these swarming peoples there was one interested in her welfare. But she knew in her heart what she was going to say when the proper time came. She did not wish to spoil his dinner. She was also going to put her courage to its supreme test; borrow a hundred pounds, and bravely promise to pay him back. If she failed to pay it, it would be because she was dead. For she could not survive a comparison between herself and her mother. Here in Naples she might find something, an opportunity. She spoke French and Italian fluently; and in this crowded season of the year it would not be difficult to find a situation as a maid or companion. So long as she could earn a little honestly, she was not afraid. She was desperately resolved.

Such a dinner! Long would she remember it! Still, how little either of them knew of it! She knew enough about these things to appreciate it. It must have cost a pretty penny. She smiled, she laughed, she jested; and always a battle to dam the uprising tears.

The dining-room was filled; women in beautiful evening gowns and men in sober black. But the two young people were oblivious. Their fellow-diners, however, bent more than one glance in their direction. Ill-fitting clothes, to be sure, but it was observed that they ate to the manner born. The girl was beautiful in a melancholy way, and the young man was well-bred and pleasant of feature, though oddly turned.

Coffee. George produced the cable. It was still sealed.

"You read it first," he said, passing it across the table.

Her hands shook as she ripped the sealed flap and opened the message. She read. Her eyes gathered dangerously.

"Be careful!" he warned. "You've been brave so long; be brave a little longer."

"I did not know that there lived such good and kindly men. Oh, thank him, thank him a thousand times for me. Read it." And she no longer cared if any saw her tears.

"Bring her home, and God bless you both."

"I knew it!" he cried exultantly.

"He and my father were the finest two men in the world. The sky is all clear now."

"Is it?" sadly. "Oh, I do not wish to pain you, but it is charity; and I am too proud."

"You refuse?" He could not believe it.

"Yes. But when things grow dark, and the day turns bitter, I shall always remember these words. I can see no other way. I must fight it out alone."

Love makes a man dumb or eloquent; and as George saw all his treasured dreams fading swiftly, eloquence became his buckler in this battle of love unspoken and pride in arms. Each time he paused for breath, she shook her head slowly.

The diners were leaving in twos and fours, and presently they were all alone. Servants were clearing up the tables; there was a clatter of dishes and a tread of hurrying feet. They noted it not.

"Well, one more plea!" And he swept aside his self-imposed restrictions. "Will you come for my sake? Because I am lovely and want you? Will you come for my sake?"

This time her head did not move.

"Is it pity?" she whispered.

"Pity!" His hands gripped the linen and the coffee-cups rattled. "No! It is not pity. Because you were lonely, because you had no one to turn to, I could not in honor tell you. But now I do. Fortune, will you come for my sake, because I love you and want you always and always?"

"I shall come."

CAR STRIKE DOUBTFUL

Leaders of Employes Say Vote Favors Extreme Action.

Notwithstanding Which They Believe Trouble Will Be Averted—County Traction Posts Notices.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Polls closed this morning at three o'clock after 13,000 union employes of the street railway companies in Chicago had expressed their attitude as to striking in case their demands are not granted. It will be late today before the votes can be counted, but while leaders declared there was unquestionably an overwhelming sentiment in favor of extreme action, they also expressed confidence that trouble will yet be averted.

The dispute between the surface lines and their men became complicated when the County Traction company posted a notice to its men that Division No. 241, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Employes, to which they belong, will no longer be recognized and that the men will be treated with individually unless they form a separate union.

Negotiations between the elevated railroads and their employes were held, Edward McMorrow of the executive board of the union, and Britton I. Budd, president, and E. C. Noe, general manager of the elevated system, being among those taking part. Their deliberations practically are concluded, it was stated, and a proposition is being prepared for submission to the men at an early date.

Comments of those taking part in arranging new agreements between employes and employers were equally free from apprehension. The opinion appeared general on both sides that a strike will be averted.

WILSON STAYS GOVERNOR

Announces He Won't Forsake Place Unless Called to Higher One.

Seagirt, N. J., Aug. 3.—Formal announcement was made by Governor Wilson that he will not resign the governorship of New Jersey during his campaign for the presidency. The governor had kept his mind open on the question of resigning ever since the Baltimore convention. Leading Democrats in the state, however, had urged him to follow the precedent of Grover Cleveland, who was nominated for the presidency, but continued in the office of governor of New York.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

DECIDE YOURSELF

THE OPPORTUNITY IS HERE, BACKED BY TESTIMONY

Don't take our word for it. Don't depend on a stranger's state ment. Read Dixon endorsement. Read the statements of Dixon citizens. And decide for yourself. Here is one case of it: E. B. Fisher, barber 116 Hennepin Ave., Dixon, Ill., says: "All I said about Doan's Kidney Pills in 1909 when I publicly recommended them I am glad to confirm at this time. I know that they are just as represented. I had rheumatic pains through my back and limbs and when I stood in one position for any length of time it was hard for me to move. My kidneys acted irregularly and contained sediment. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a supply at Leake Bros' Drug store, and they did me so much good that I continued taking them. They made me strong and well. I still used this remedy once in awhile and it keeps my kidneys in good working order."

ROOSEVELT GETS SEVERE SCORING

Steel Quiz Majority Report Says He Made Corporation Rule Absolute.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The report of the majority of the committee of the house of representatives directed more than a year ago to investigate the United States Steel corporation was submitted to the house by Representative Stanley of Kentucky, the chairman. J. P. Morgan and his associates are held up as being beneficiaries of enormous profits realized from the overcapitalization of the subsidiary companies of the Steel corporation and later of the corporation itself.

The committee reports that October 26, 1907, President Roosevelt issued a statement congratulating Secretary Cortelyou and the business men who headed off the Tennessee Coal and Iron panic. The committee says of this:

"Until the time of this interview the Steel corporation owed its success and its permanency to the power and the skill of the financiers who had created and the iron masters who had directed its operations. Since that time its dominance has been due in no small measure to the sudden, ill-considered and arbitrary fiat of the chief executive."

The Steel corporation is called an enemy of organized labor and is accused of lowering the condition of its employees and of contributing to American industry workmen and work methods un-American and foreign to the best interests of labor.

Federal Control Disproven. In summing up, the report says: "Control of corporations by the federal government, as recommended by Mr. Carnegie, ex-Judge Gary and others, is not approved. Such a control, semi-socialistic in its nature, is beyond the power vested by the Constitution in the federal congress."

"Enormous earnings of the Steel corporation are due not to a degree of integration of efficiency not possessed by its competitors, but to the ownership of ore reserves out of all proportion to its output or requirements and to the control and operation of common carriers, divisions of rates and liberal allowances obtained from other concerns through inequitable and inordinate terminal allowances."

"The attorney general of the United States and his subordinates should not be permitted to exercise an absolute discretion as to the institution of proceedings under the act of July 1, 1890, known as the Sherman antitrust act, or other acts prohibiting combinations in restraint of trade. The parties injuriously affected by such combinations should have access to the courts and the benefit of adequate and sufficient remedies for wrongs inflicted by such combinations."

Three Bills Recommended.

Legislation recommended by the majority consists of three bills. One, commonly known as the Brandeis bill, is designed to give an injured party the right to begin suit to prevent organization of a combination in restraint of trade. This bill also transfers the burden of proof to the defendant corporation to show that it is a combination within "reasonable restraint of trade." Another bill would provide that "no person engaged as an individual or as a member of a partnership, or a director or other officer, or an employee of a corporation, in the business, in whole or in part, of manufacturing or selling railroad cars or locomotives or railroad rails or structural steel, or mining and selling coal, shall act as a director or other officer or employee of any railroad company which conducts an interstate commerce business." The third bill is intended to hit at the system of interlocking directorates and would separate industrial from railroad business.

In speaking of watered stock, the majority comment is:

"In some instances stocks were not 'watered' in the ordinary acceptance of that term; they were literally deluged."

HITS PENNSYLVANIA ROAD

Ohio Seeks to Oust the Corporation From the State.

Columbus, O., Aug. 3.—A quo warranto proceeding to oust the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad company, an Ohio corporation and a branch of the Pennsylvania lines, from its charter in this state will be begun in the circuit court here by the state as a result of the alleged agreement not to operate one day excursions, said to have been entered by the Pennsylvania with other roads at Chicago recently, according to Attorney General Hogan.

Battleship Loses Propeller.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The big armored cruiser South Dakota, on route with the Pacific fleet from Yokohama to Honolulu, broke a propeller shaft, according to a radiogram from Admiral Sutherland. The vessel is proceeding under one propeller.

THREE TO SURRENDER

ROSENTHAL SLAYERS WILL GIVE THEMSELVES UP.

Gangsters Plot to Free One of the Gunmen, But Are Balked by Police.

New York, Aug. 3.—The complete clearing up of the Rosenthal murder mystery, the punishment of the men who actually killed the gambler and proof of the police department graft where, when and to whom paid, was made more immediately probable by the offer of the three men still wanted for the murder to surrender themselves to the authorities.

The men are Harry Horowitz, known as "Gyp the Blood," Louis Rosenberg, nicknamed "Lefty Louie," and Sam Scheppe. Coroner Feinberg intimated that all three would be in jail within 72 hours. Overtures for giving themselves up were made to the district attorney's office and with this in view the coroner held "Whitey" Lewis without bail for examination Tuesday. The affidavit on which Lewis, whose right name is Frank Mueller, was held is the first yet made charging any prisoner with firing one of the fatal shots.

Gangster friends of Lewis crowded the West Shore station at Weehawken, evidently ready to rescue the gunman on his arrival from Kingston, but the plan was frustrated by squads of detectives and policemen, who, with drawn revolvers, intimidated the mob. Lewis was safely locked in jail.

COMMERCE COURT MUST GO

Senate and House Conferences Agree on Bill Assigning Judges to Circuit Courts.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The five judges of the United States commerce court will be retained in office as circuit judges by an agreement reached by the house and senate conferences on the legislative executive judicial appropriation bill. The court will be definitely abolished and its work turned over to the district courts in which the various cases may have arisen.

HELD FOR MURDER OF WIFE

Chicagoan Arrested at Gary for What May Prove to Be a Double Killing in Illinois City a Few Days Ago.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Joseph Bavido, a barber, who is wanted by the police on a charge of having shot and instantly killed his wife, Anna, and probably fatally wounded his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Thompson, following a quarrel in his home at 372 West Oak street, was taken into custody by the police of Gary, Ind., according to a telegram received by the Chicago police department. After the shooting Bavido escaped before the police arrived. Messages containing his description were sent at once to surrounding cities.

Mrs. Thompson, the sister of the dead woman, is in a critical condition at the Passavant hospital, suffering from four bullet wounds. She is twenty-four years old and lived at 2432
North Halsted street. She was visiting her sister when Bavido began the shooting. He is said to have become enraged over his wife's threat to have him arrested for beating her.

Rob Post Offices in State.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Two Illinois post offices were broken into and robbed.
Telegrams from the postmasters of Lyndon, Whiteside county, and Bluff Springs, Cass county, to the post offices inspector here told of the robberies.

Postmaster A. W. Greeley of Lyndon reported a loss of $30 in stamps and money. The post office was damaged by the intruders.

At Bluff Springs $32 in stamps and money was taken, according to Postmaster G. F. Carls.

Post office inspectors from the Chicago office have started on the trail of the robbers. The robberies are believed to have been committed by an organized band that has broken into a number of post offices recently.

Says Estates Escaped Taxes.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Complaints against seven estates for alleged failure to pay equitable personal property taxes for the years 1906 to 1911, inclusive, were filed with the board of review by Frank W. Jones, president of the Illinois Tax Reform association. The aggregate amount of property of the estates, which, it is alleged, has escaped taxation during these years, based on one year's assessment, is $38,685,000. Complaints were filed against 22 companies and corporations, also said to have eluded taxation on property aggregating $8,238,000, based on one year's assessment, but covering the years from 1907 to 1912, inclusive.

Name School for Burnham.

Cicero, Aug. 3.—A new school building, to be finished on September 1, at Fifty-ninth avenue and Eightteenth street, in the town of Cicero, is to bear the name of Daniel Hudson Burnham, the noted Chicago architect who died in Europe recently. The school trustees of state school district
No. 98 voted at a meeting held at the General Custer school to name the new school in honor of the designer of the Chicago plan. The new school makes the fourth school building in the district of which the town of Cicero is the center.

New State Corporations.

Springfield, Aug. 3.—The following Chicago corporations were licensed by the secretary of state: Auburn Park
Masonic Temple association, $25,000;
S. H. Manchey, Clyde E. Tallman, W.
W. Tern, Lake Shore Hotel company, $5,200; William W. Wheelock,
Rex MacKenzie, F. J. Newey, Tesla
Auto Light company, $6,000; manufacturing automobile supplies; Charles B. Stafford, Harry C. Lovinson, Albert Jacobs, Independence Construction company, $2,500; contracting;
Louis Brownstein, Robert T. Brewer,
Samuel Plame.

Rebel Prisoners Arraigned.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Frank O'Neill,
Jerry Connors, J. H. Clinton and Robert Schultz, whose attempt at jail delivery was frustrated, were arraigned before Judge Kersten on an indictment which charges them with assault with attempt to murder Cornelius Sullivan, a guard. They pleaded not guilty and will be placed on trial in the near future. Sullivan was severely beaten about the head by the prisoners when he fought against their escape.

Cattle Men Seek Changes in Law.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Government supervision of the cattle industry, with a view of getting more cattle on the market, was suggested by Charles S.
Jones, president of the Chicago live stock exchange, as a means of pulling down the high price of meats. Mr.
Jones' statement came after a general boost of meat prices in Chicago.

Seek Broader Laws.

Springfield, Aug. 3.—A broadening of the present public library laws of Illinois is asked in amendments to those laws, that were adopted at a meeting of the legislative committee of the Library Trustees' association of Illinois, in the directors' rooms of the Chicago public library.

HOW DUTCH FARMERS LIVE

Cattle invariably Are Housed Under the Same Roof as the Family.

The typical Dutch farmhouse is square, one-storyed, with a pyramid-shaped roof. The space between the apex of the roof and the ceiling of the dwelling part is generally used as a storehouse for winter food for the cattle. The living room door opens into the stable, for the cattle are invariably housed under the same roof as the family. The homes vary little in their furnishings. One always sees bright strips of carpet, a highly polished "center table," where the family
Bible is displayed, and a glass dresser, with its shelves filled with rare old brass and Delft ware. The most curious thing about the houses is the sleeping quarters—unique and certainly unhealthy from the modern viewpoint, which requires plenty of fresh air in the bedrooms.

The cheesemaker's family sleeps in beds built in cupboard-like recesses in the wall and as far from the window as possible. There is a door similar to that of a cupboard, and this is kept closed during the day, in order that the bed may be hidden from view. The stuffy condition of this walled-in bedroom can be readily imagined. The linen is always snowy white, and the whole make-up presents an attractive appearance, even to the decorated strap suspended from the ceiling and used to assist the occupant of the couch to arise. The visitor is always welcome at the cheese farms, but the visit must be made early in the morning if the cheesemaking is to be seen.

Homesick Immigrants.

In the steerage office of a European steamship line sat sad-eyed men and women of the steerage type.

"America too swift for 'em, eh?"
said a brisk American passing through. "Going back home, eh?"
"Nothing of the kind," said a clerk.
"The poor devils haven't been here long enough to find out whether they will be a failure or not. Just at present they are knocked out by homesickness. That is why they are here."

"The individuals comprising this particular group came over alone.
They have no friends here and the loneliness has felled them. A visit to the office of the steamship line that brought them over is about the best bracer they can find."

"Here they can at least see the picture of the ship they came in, and maybe strike up a conversation with some one who is buying a ticket to go back. They'll hang around here off and on for several weeks until the sharp edge of their homesickness has worn off."

Government Experts Start Inquiry
Into Cause of "Bubbles."

Washington, Aug. 3.—What makes the holes in Swiss cheese? Government experts say the holes are dollars and cents to the merchants, for they indicate the grade and value of the cheese. So they want to know how the holes may be encouraged to appear
